The essence of TAN lies at the heart of Africa and it will engage in building a network of reliable members from different African countries having a specific mandate - providing personalised solutions to businesses all around the globe. "It is our privilege to witness the rise of the premier network of tax professionals, born and bred in Africa", states Cathie Hannelas, Managing Director of Rogers Capital Tax, the founding member of TAN.

With the breadth and depth of expertise it gathers, TAN is strategically positioned to advise industrial groups, investment funds, commercial banks, development financial institutions as well as African states, communities, start-ups and venture capitals with high innovation impact potential. Some regions of the African business community are already operating under the common OHADA law (17 countries) while the fiscal regime of countries of the CEMAC (6 countries) and WAEMU (8 countries) regions are very similar.

"The OHADA treaty was signed in Mauritius in 1993, and today, the Premier Tax Africa Network is set up from Mauritius with the same aim to help Africa become ONE", adds Ryan Allas, International Tax Lead at Rogers Capital Tax.
